

Perth's favourite ferry service has a fresh new face

In the late 1950's Alan Kitcher, sailed though the heads of Fremantle Harbour in a 42ft wooden hulled launch 'The Temeraire'. He had brought her, along with his family, from Albany to begin a new business venture; a regular passenger ferry service from Perth to Rottnest Island.

Little did he realise that his efforts would eventually manifest into the largest privately owned ferry company in Australia, carrying hundreds of 1000's of people to Rottnest every year. Things have come a long way since the early days and now in its 50th anniversary year Rottnest Express is setting sail on an exciting new journey.

In July 2007 Bailey's Marine Group the leading provider of marine services in the country purchased Rottnest Express. With 20 years experience in the marine industry and a passion for the Island they aim to create an even better ferry service to Rottnest. Bailey's believe the right staff, culture and vision will give Rottnest Express the potential to go to another level again.

With new boats, upgraded terminals, secure parking, a new fleet of bikes and online bookings its time to rediscover Rottnest – it's easier than you think!

We look forward to welcoming you aboard.

Rottnest Express partnered with the Centre for Whale Research in 2008 making for a season to be remembered! A hydrophone listening system, onboard DVD and research notes were developed exclusively for Rottnest Express. Expert commentary was also provided by an onboard research assistant.

"I would recommend everyone who goes to Perth should be on this trip. It was the most memorable and fantastic trip we had ever had. The "guide" was great and gave heaps of information and was so passionate about what she was doing.

We were so glad that we finally chose Rottnest Express cos it's the best!"
